

Waiting for an appointment? Enjoy songs and rhymes together.

Singing with your child, will give them the best start in listening and talking skills, later supporting their reading and writing skills.

Why?

Sharing songs and rhymes together, helps:

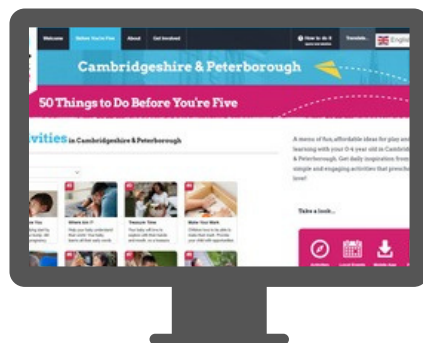

- ✓ Learn new words and the rhythm of language.
- ✓ Builds early maths skills.
- ✓ Strengthen later spelling and reading skills.
- ✓ Secure strong bonds between parent and child.
- ✓ Build creativity, imagination, musicality and coordination.

How?

- ✓ Sing a line of a song, can your child join in with the last word?
- ✓ Do not worry whether you are tuneful, your child loves your voice.
- ✓ Use actions with rhymes, such as singing 'heads, shoulders, knees and toes', whilst touching these parts of your body.
