

Alternatives to written recording

Use of sticky-back numerals or shapes; showing answers using number fans or arrow cards

1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10
11	12	13	14	15	16	17	18	19	20
21	22	23	24	25	26	27	28	29	30
31	32	33	34	35	36	37	38	39	40
41	42	43	44	45	46	47	48	49	50
51	52	53	54	55	56	57	58	59	60
61	62	63	64	65	66	67	68	69	70
71	72	73	74	75	76	77	78	79	80
81	82	83	84	85	86	87	88	89	90
91	92	93	94	95	96	97	98	99	100

Highlighting answers on a 100 square or number line

Use of digit symbol cards to construct number sentences

Making posters

Drawings/ diagrams

Making a 2D or 3D display

Video recording

Digital photo spreads

Flow charts

Card sorts; sorting boards

Mind mapping

Group wordstorm; one member of group acts as scribe

Oral presentation

Tape recording

Role-play

Sorting sentences, paragraphs or short texts (for example into autobiography/biography)

Words, sentences and paragraphs or pages to put in order

Highlighting - for example verbs in one colour; nouns in another

Tops and tails - matching the beginnings and endings of sentences (or paragraphs, or whole texts)

First the paper was gathered. Finally it was rolled smooth, before being painted to a ship, from the banks of the Nile. It was cut into strips

Wordprocessing with on-screen word grids

Shape, graph and table templates; related software for mathematical recording; use of calculator

Predictive or voice-operated word processing software

Matching labels to parts of diagrams or pictures

Matching - labels to objects, sentences or pictures; labels to quantities, shapes and solids

Object sorts (e.g. by initial phoneme)

Choosing or ordering symbol cards (Bliss, TEACCH, Writing with Symbols)

Paired recording with a fluent writer

Dictation to a helper

Use of specialist alternative forms of recording; e.g. Braille

